

A Suggestion on Methods For Raising L. M. Police Pay

Lower Merion Township Commissioners have five sources of taxation to which they can turn if they decide to give the police and the other township employees cost-of-living salary increases for the new year.

When approached last month with the police proposal for a $500 annual increase for each member of the force, one of the commissioners said this would necessitate raising the township tax of ten mills for general operating purposes. But if this were done the matter would have to be taken to Montgomery County Court, because the State Township Code does not permit the imposition of any more than a 10 mills tax for general purposes. The tax for township purposes is now 10 mills.

But there is a loop-hole through which taxes can be raised without petitioning the Court.

As the State Township Code permits special taxes for lighting, library, shade trees, recreation and fire protection, it would, we find, be possible to impose some or all of these special taxes. Their imposition, which would shift the money for these purposes from the classification of "expenditures for general purposes," would give the commissioners a chance to apply the money left in the general purpose fund to salary increases.

It is unlikely that commissioners would vote police a raise unless they granted the same increase to other township employees. Including the police force of 109 men, this would mean an increase for approximately 300 employees, amounting to about $150,000.

That this taxation procedure is legally possible, whether or not the commissioners decide it is practical, is proven by the following excerpts from the State Township Code:

Section 3012 reads:

"The township commissioners may cause to be raised by special taxation such tax, not to exceed two mills on the dollar of the assessed valuation of taxable property in such township, for the purpose of maintaining and operating parks, playgrounds, playfields, gymnasiums, public baths, swimming pools and recreation centers."

Section 1769, Paragraph 2, reads:

"A tax for the purpose of building and maintaining suitable places for the housing of fire apparatus, the receipts from said tax for maintenance to be divided among the places maintained."

Section 1709, Paragraph 3, reads:

"An annual tax, not exceeding 1-10th of a mill, for the purpose of caring for trees planted under the supervision of the shade tree commission and for the purpose of publishing notices of meetings to consider the planting, removing or changing of trees."

Richard Weiant, 16, Was Missing 5 Hours Before Body Was Found

Funeral services for Richard Weiant, 16, of 121 Linwood Ave., Ardmore, were held Tuesday from the funeral parlors of Frankenfield and Chadwick, Ardmore. Burial was in Westminster Cemetery, Bala-Cynwyd.

Weiant, a sophomore at Lower Merion High School, was found hanging by the neck in the third floor attic of his home at 12:17 A. M. Saturday. Lower Merion Township detectives took him to the Bryn Mawr Hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival. The boy's mother, Mrs. Harold E. Weiant, told detectives she first began to miss him about 7 P. M., after he failed to appear for dinner. She called his father, who has been a member of the Lower Merion Township police force for more than twenty-five years. Weiant advised waiting for his return, and the mother did so, until midnight, when a search of the house disclosed the body.

The boy was reported to be a better-than-average student in high school, popular with his classmates and without any apparent maladjustments in his life.

Survivors, in addition to his mother and father, include a step-brother and step-sister.

$600 Bail Set for Shop Proprietor

Former Owner Charged With Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses

A Germantown woman was held under $600 bail for Montgomery County Court Friday night on charges of obtaining money and property by false pretenses.

The charges, made before Justice of the Peace Franklin P. Kromer, in the Lower Merion Township Building, involved the sale of a Penn Valley beauty salon for $1700.

Miss Irene Stangert, of Philadelphia, testified that when Mrs. Miriam R. Hinkle, of Germantown, sold her the property, she signed an affidavit saying she owed no debts, liabilities or claims whatsoever in connection with the beauty salon.

The sale was made November 15, Miss Stangert said. Afterwards, she said, she found that Mrs. Hinkle owed bills amounting to $244.85 for beauty supplies and plumbing.

Kromer held Mrs. Hinkle under $600 bail for court. He accepted her check for the amount, on the condition that it be endorsed by Carl W. Myers, Deputy Register of Wills, Philadelphia County, who appeared at the hearing with Mrs. Hinkle and the latter's husband, Walter.

The beauty establishment, located at 913 Montgomery Ave., Penn Valley, was known as Miriam's Beauty Salon. Mrs. Hinkle operated the establishment for two months before she gave it up.

Guests at the dinner will include the three boys and the football coaches of the 12 schools. Saam will talk on sports, and football movies will be shown.

Two new members were accepted into the Junior Chamber at a directors' meeting Monday night. They are Joseph Loos, of Brynwood Manor, Narberth, and David S. Randolph, of St. Davids. The meeting was held at the home of the treasurer, Al Lindingers, of Stratford.

Cynwyd Student Shoots Himself During Art Class

Bala-Cynwyd Boys' Friends Report He Was Despondent

A 14-year-old Cynwyd boy shot and killed himself Monday morning while sitting with 23 other students in art class at the Bala-Cynwyd Junior High School.

He was Donald Peabody Sargent, son of Mrs. George P. Sargent, of 127 Lodges Lane. The bullet tore through the lad's stomach and emerged from his back below the left shoulder blade.

Lower Merion Township detectives said the bullet then struck a classmate, Willard Snell, but that its force was spent and Snell was uninjured.

The single shot from the .38 caliber Army pistol was fired while the school principal, George W. R. Kirkpatrick, was on his way to question Sargent about a report that he had shown the weapon earlier in the day to Henry Clayton, of 124 Edgemoor Rd., Cynwyd, and told Clayton that he was going to kill himself.

Another classmate, George W. Richards, 3d, of 9 Llanberis Rd., who was sitting in front of young Sargent, told detectives that Donald tapped him on the shoulder, pulled the pistol from his coat pocket and said: "Watch this."

The sound of the shot threw the pupils into an uproar, and the teacher, Miss Dorothy G. Biles, of 112 Grassmere Rd., Cynwyd, attempted to restore order by asking who was responsible for the noise.

Young Sargent staggered to the front of the classroom, where he collapsed. Running for help, Miss Biles met the principal coming down the corridor.

Kirkpatrick summoned Dr. Francis B. Smyth, of 108 Levering Mill Rd., just down the street from the school, who in turn called for an ambulance to take the boy to Bryn Mawr Hospital. Sargent was pronounced dead on arrival by a hospital physician.

Detective Captain William Schaffer said the tragedy "could have been an accident or it could have been deliberate." He said there was some history of apparent despondency from the testimony given by some of the fellow students.

According to Henry Clayton, young Sargent met him before school, showed him the weapon which bore his initials "D. S." and said he was going to shoot himself because he had "no friends and nothing to live for."

Henry, according to detectives, told Donald that he had plenty to live for and urged him not to be so glum. He also told him he had plenty of friends. However, he was sufficiently worried about his friend's mood to report it to the principal.

Police said Donald had a collection of about 20 weapons. He is survived by his mother, a widow, an older brother, George P., Jr., 17, and a sister, Mrs. Robert Crossley.

Launch Seal Sale Along Main Line

Proceeds Will Be Used For TB Cure, Case Work Here

Frank C. Royer, of Ardmore, announced this week the opening of the 41st annual Christmas Seal sale in Lower Merion and Narberth. The sales are sponsored here by the Community Health and Civic Association.

Seals were mailed from the Association's headquarters, and will continue through Christmas. Posters showing a reproduction of this year's Seal are being placed in store windows along the Main Line.

"The sale will be conducted largely by mail," Royer said, "since this is the easiest way to reach a large number of people. Those who have not received Seals by mail, and wish to purchase them, may do so by calling at the Association's headquarters, 25 East Athens Ave., Ardmore, or calling Ardmore 0350."

A large part of the money collected in the present drive will remain in this community, for local use, according to Royer. Some of it goes for tuberculosis testing and X-raying teachers and children in the schools. It is also used for "case-finding" through home visits, education concerning tuberculosis, bedside care of tuberculosis cases, and publicity which includes posters, literature and films shown in schools, clubs and other organizations.

School Board Is Deadlocked Over New President

Special Meeting on Monday Night in A Tie Vote

The Lower Merion School Board is deadlocked over the election of a president to serve for the new year.

At a meeting Monday night as prescribed by the State School Code, School Directors met in the Administration Building in Ardmore, to select a president.

The were only eight members present and they divided into two factions which resulted in a tie vote after two ballots.

By mutual agreement they then decided to postpone the election until next Monday night when the absent member, Joseph Parks, is expected to attend.

As a result of the meeting charges and counter-charges of politics for the first time in the history of the Lower Merion School Board are rife.

The two opposing candidates are Dr. L. W. Zimmerman and Raymond P. Scott.

Those lining up behind Zimmerman are Dr. Joseph W. Anderson, J. Herbert Baltz, and Mrs. S. E. Slocum, and the backers of Scott are James M. Henderson, Mrs. W. G. Cuff and W. Ralston Rogers.

According to members of the Zimmerman faction Scott is being backed by a group of the local Republican organization. According to the Scott faction the Zimmerman backers are as much interested in politics as anyone although they have never been closely identified with the Lower Merion Republican Organization.

The new president will replace Everett E. Burlingame, who after serving as School Director for 25 years is retiring this year. Burlingame did not choose to run.

Another complaint of the Zimmerman faction is that the Scott backers are newly elected directors, although Scott, himself, has been on the board for some time. James M. Henderson, Mrs. W. G. Cuff and W. R. Rogers were all nominated in the September Primary with organization backing and in the November General Election were elected over their Democratic opponents.

Chest Campaign Short of Quota

Merion Park was the only Main Line district to meet its Red Feather quota as the last report of the current drive was held, Tuesday, in Philadelphia.

Mrs. James R. Bolton, reporting for Merion Park, turned in receipts amounting to 111 percent of quota.

In the area from Overbrook through Ardmore, 85.3 percent of the quota of $112,037 had been reached by Tuesday. Bala-Cynwyd reported 83.2 percent of its $19,700 quota, and the district from Haverford through Villanova turned in 89.9 percent of its quota of $93,045.

Repeating the urgent warning that the quota for the Philadelphia area, $8,925,000, must be met in order to keep the hospital, youth organizations and welfare services functioning, local leaders urged the support of every citizen in the final drive.

"If you have not already been solicited," one leader asked, "please call one of the following numbers, untarify: Cynwyd 0283; Ardmore and make your contribution, voluntary or Bryn Mawr 4572."

A review of the history of the Branch will be staged by Bryn Mawr College students and Junior Red Cross members, with Henry Clifford as the narrator.

Musical selections will be provided by a choral group from the Orpheus Club and the pupils of Miss Ursula Murray will present a program of dances.

Detectives after the hearing recalled a similar case in a large Detroit automotive plant which led to heavy dismissals, so widespread was the practice.

Manoa Man Arrested as Bookie; Charge: Taking Bets at Autocar

John L. Pelstring, alleged head bookkeeper for a numbers-writing and horse-race-betting syndicate in Ardmore, was arrested by Lower Merion Township detectives last Friday, as he left the Autocar Company plant, where he is employed in the material control department.

Pelstring, 35, of 1504 Sunnyhill Ave., Manoa, was held in $1000 bail for Montgomery County Court, by Magistrate Franklin P. Kromer at a hearing the night of his arrest.

Detectives claim Pelstring made as much as $150 a day during the past two years "policy writing" and booking horses inside the Autocar plant. Stories of gambling in the plant first set the detective bureau on the trail last week. Investigation narrowed the field to the man with whom the bets were placed.

On Friday afternoon Detectives Joseph Kelly, William Bycroft, and Glen Turkleson waited out-

THINKING OUT LOUD

Copyright 1947 by CHARLES A. WRIGHT

The Learned One raised his hand to command attention, motioned for his pupils to come in closer to him, made a final adjustment on his breathing helmet, and started to talk.

"Today," he said gravely, "we will study the civilization of that ancient settlement known as Mainline. It was a primitive civilization, of course; men and men-femme still lived above ground where they were subject to the winds and the rains and snow, but according to our evidence some progressed to like this crude existence."

Their settlement adjoined the larger one of the Philadelphias. But, whereas the Philadelphias were efficient and made good use of their ground for factories and rows and rows of houses, the men and men-femme of Mainline allowed much of their land to go to waste, with nothing but trees and grass and streams on land which might well have been put to other use."

A pupil on the rear row stirred. It was sometimes difficult to believe the astounding statements of the Learned One.

"Because their settlement was known as Mainline, from the root Main, meaning principal or most important, the men and men-femme came to think of themselves as principal or most important. The results of this self-identification varied with the individual. Some attempted and achieved great deeds. Others merely attempted to obtain more goods, or more of that queer invention called money, hoping in that way to appear principal or more important."

The pupil on the rear row raised his hand. "Mighty teacher," he said. "I have heard that there were dragons in those days. Can that be true?"

"Indeed, yes," said the Learned One. "There were mighty dragons, but the men and men-femme sought to tame them to their uses. There was a principal dragon, known as the Paoliolocal, a mighty creature of red and gold, with queer horns above its head, that spit sparks as it strode along. And there were other dragons, among them the Redarrowwar and the Redarowbus and the Philandwest-earcar."

"The men and men-femme of Mainline said they despised the settlement of the Philadelphias and yet each morning and night they went through a strange rite. They would rush to the lair of the nearest dragon, stuff themselves inside it, and ride to the Philadelphias, going to what they called 'work.' And each night they would leave the 'work' and rush to a dragon's lair, stuff themselves in again, and return to their primitive homes."

"Honorable teacher," said the pupil on the rear row. "Could that be the origin of the expression, 'dragon to work'?"

"Some scholars believe so," said the Learned One. "The evidence is not conclusive on this point, but it seems a logical deduction."

"Sir," said a pupil-femme on the second row. "I have heard of a more savage dragon of all, known as El, or by some such name. Is it true that there was such a monster?"

"The stories about El," responded the Learned One, "are too many and too terrible to be believable. One legend has it that El rode high above the housetops and then descended beneath a river, making terrible noises all the time. There are tales of men and men-femme being wedged inside El so tightly that they could not move. There is another tale, least believable of all, that while riding inside El one day, a man arose and offered a man-femme his seat."

"Uncredible," said the pupil-femme, quietly.

"El, of course, was but the shortened name of this mythical monster. Some students of folk lore claim its true name was El-lis."

the portion of the Biddle tract extending from the line of Norman Rd. to County Line Rd., the Lower Merion boundary. This is the least desirable part of the tract, being lower ground than the rest, and at present consists mostly of woodland, through which flows a branch of Cobbs Creek.

The builder, Madway Engineers and Constructors, proposes to extend Normandy Rd. into the property and then swing it on a wide arc, across a new bridge over the creek, and then bring it out at County Line Rd. Grouped along the two sides of this road will be thirteen buildings, of which twelve will be in groups of three each, and the thirteenth will be separate. Another group of three buildings will be set back from Ardmore Ave. A total of 176 units will be provided.

Garages for 88 cars will be located near the County Line Rd. side of the property and off-the-road parking space for 88 cars will be available near the various building groups.

Organized Reserve Corps Opens Local Offices

The 836th Organized Reserve Composite Group, Eastern Pennsylvania Military District, opened offices in the Bryn Mawr Post Office Building this week.

Announcement of the opening was made by Col. James B. Carroll, senior ORC instructor. The group will consist of all officers and enlisted men in the Bryn Mawr district. This includes Upper Darby, Drexel Hill, Haverford Township, Newtown Square, Radnor Township and Lower Merion Township.

The offices will be open from 8:30 A. M. until 5 P. M., weekdays, and from 8:30 A. M. until noon on Saturday, to disseminate information and assistance concerning assignment, promotion, training and other data.

Orchestra Group to Present Concert Dec. 12

The Main Line Community orchestra will present a concert December 12 in the auditorium of the Bala-Cynwyd Junior High School.

The program will include selections by Harold Wright, clarinetist; Robert H. Elmore on the console; the A Cappella Choir of the University of Pennsylvania and the Community Chorus.

Musical Groups To Give Show

L. M. Orchestra, Choir At School December 16

Members of the choir and orchestra of Lower Merion High School will present a musical performance, "Christmas in Music," in the school auditorium December 16 at 8:15 P. M.

The program will include outstanding works representing both secular and sacred aspects of Christmas season music.

The 80-piece orchestra, under the direction of Andrew R. Frech, will present works by Mozart, Orff, Isaac and Handel, and will furnish instrumental accompaniment for several choral presentations. Selections will also be offered by the string orchestra.

Gerald H. Woerner will conduct the choral groups, including the A Cappella Choir and the Girls' Chorus. The chorus will present a Fantasy of Christmas Carols arranged by Rosario Bourdon, accompanied by the orchestra.

Over 100 members of the Girls' Chorus will participate in a candlelight procession. The Brass Quartet will play Christmas carols preceding the principal portion of the program.

Handel's "Messiah" will be presented by the combined group of 300 performers as a finale of the entertainment.

The committee in charge of the performance, composed of school faculty members, includes: Jean Francis, Myrna Sheely, S. M. Kressler, and William Bahrmann. Bruce C. Beach, director of the School Music Department, is committee chairman.

Cards of admission for the performance may be obtained by writing to the Music Department, Lower Merion High School, Ardmore. Self-addressed return envelopes must be enclosed.

Suit Filed for $15,000 Damages

A suit for $15,000 damages has been filed in Norristown by Neil E. Dyer, of 542 Putnam Rd., Merion Park, for injuries suffered by his two children in 1945.

In his petition, Dyer stated that his two children, Sarah M. 13, and Thomas A. 16, were injured December 16, 1945, when they were struck by an automobile driven by H. Lawrence Strasburger.

George F. Kempf, Strasburger, and Richard T. Millick were named as defendants.

Dyer claims that Strasburger was driving west on Putnam Rd., Merion Park, while Kempf was driving north on Lafayette Rd. At the same time, he stated, Millick was allegedly operating a bobsled which was attached by wire to the rear end of the Kempf automobile.

At the intersection, the Strasburger car struck the towing cable and then went over the pavement and struck the two children.

Five Local Men Injured In Early Morning Crash

Five local men were injured early Friday morning when their car skidded on the Wynnewood Rd. curve near Ballymore Rd., Wynnewood, jumped the curb and crashed into a telephone pole.

The driver, identified by Lower Merion Township police as James Anderson, Jr., 20, of 228 Beechhill Rd., Wynnewood, was treated at Bryn Mawr Hospital for cuts of the knee and eyelid and brush burns.

Also treated at the hospital were four other occupants of the car, Kenneth Higgins, 22, of 144 Union Ave., Bala, fractured left thigh; his brother Jay, 20, same address, sprained right foot; David Welsh, 21, 623 Moreno Rd., Penn Valley, brush burns of the knee; and Richard A. Parks, Jr., 24, 205 Kent Rd., Wynnewood, sprained left ankle and bruised elbow.

Family Service Gives Aid To Main Line Groups

Two hundred and twenty families and individuals along the Main Line were counseled last year by the Family Service of the Main Line Federation of Churches at Ardmore, a Red Feather agency.

Report of the case work done in the last year was made public Friday by Robert M. Myers, executive secretary. In addition to the family counseling, the Family Service assisted with registration, transportation, and in some cases finances, in getting seventy-five children to various summer camps. Problems which swell the divorce rate were ironed out, mental illness and neurotic behavior were treated under the supervision of a consulting psychiatrist, and skilled supervision was given in cases of death, illness and separation. The problem of unmarried parenthood was attacked, as well as problems of children. Other services included helping aged persons adjust themselves, and planning budgets for harassed families.

M. L. Business Women Plan Christmas Party

The Main Line Business and Professional Women's Club will hold their annual Christmas party Wednesday evening, December 10, at the home of Mrs. John Y. Huber, of Haverford.

The special guest of the evening will be Miss Margaret Hickey, editor of the Public Affairs of Ladies' Home Journal and past National President of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Clothing for two Belgian boys will be packed at the meeting.

'Raffles' Takes Clothing—and Cold Chicken!

A burglar who paused long enough to provide himself with a free lunch of cold roast chicken visited the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. Grove Horine, 140 Suffolk Lane, Penn Wynne, sometime between Friday afternoon and Sunday night.

In addition to doing away with the fowl, whose carcass he left upstairs among the rumpled bedclothes, the leisurely Raffles took clothing, jewelry and a fountain pen before leaving the premises.

Included in the list which Dr. Horine gave to Lower Merion detectives were two men's suits of tan gabardine, with Jacob Reed labels sewn inside; one gray tropical worsted man's suit, with a Mann and Dilks label; one ornamental pin, a circlet of platinum with a bowknot centered by a diamond and the pen, which was a fountain topped with gold, and which the Horines valued at $40.

Dr. Horine told detectives he and his wife left the house about 3 P. M. Friday. When they returned at 7 P. M. Sunday they found the house ransacked, beds pulled apart and bureau drawers rifled. The intruder apparently entered through a cellar window, where detectives found a broken pane of glass.

Detectives valued the losses at $225—not counting the chicken.

Optimists Hear Sports Caster

Claude Hering, sports announcer for the Atlantic Television Network of Sports Events in the Philadelphia District, was the speaker at a meeting of the Ardmore Optimist Club Tuesday at the Llanerch Country Club.

Hering, who was presented by Rev. Frederick Fritch, of the Trinity Lutheran Church of Manos, presented a demonstration of the program that must be set up by an announcer who is to broadcast a televised game.

Television sportscasters, he said, must analyze comments and criticisms of the crowd in order to please as many people as possible.

The following new members were voted into the club at the meeting: James F. Hartness, Superintendent of Police of Haverford Township; Raymond F. Keller, Vincent B. Fuller and William J. Laramy.

On December 18, club members will visit the Christ Home for Homeless Children, at Paradise, Pa. Dr. Kermit Lyman is in charge of preparations for the trip.

S. E. Ewing, Jr., Joins RCA-Victor

Samuel E. Ewing, Jr., Lower Merion Township commissioner-elect, has joined the RCA Victor Division, Radio Corporation of America, it was announced last week.

Ewing, who lives at 23 Railroad Ave., Haverford, will supervise legal matters for the RCA Engineering Products Department within the division.

A native of Bryn Mawr, Ewing is a graduate of Princeton University and the University of Pennsylvania Law School. He is a member of the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and American Bar Associations.

Formerly a Lower Merion commissioner from the East Bryn Mawr District, he resigned from that office to enter the Army during the war. Entering as a private, he later attended Officer Candidate School and rose to the rank of major.

During his service overseas he received the Bronze Star medal and campaign stars for action in Normandy, Northern France, Ardenne, Central Europe and Germany. He was attached to the 12th Army Group under General Omar Bradley.

THE COLLEGE WHIRL

Dear Dottie:

What a weekend! With four days of perfect weather, more exciting parties than a dozen persons could have lived through, two colorful football games, and most importantly, with what seemed to be the bulk of the college crowd at home, Thanksgiving, 1947, was as traditional and wonderful as anyone could have asked.

I missed the Lower Merion-Radnor game, but from all I hear the Aces deserve a rousing hand for going through a tough ten-game schedule without being knocked off. Dick Mattis seems to come up with a great team year after year, and this was certainly one of the best.

After church Thanksgiving morning I walked around town, and it was wonderful to see so many old familiar faces, and hear how everyone is doing in college. Didn't run into Joan Davis or Jean Mary Parkhill, but I understand they've become members of the Independent Organization at Stephens College, out in Columbia, Missouri. Sounds like they're having a busy time, between proms, teas, picnics

Xmas Party Planned by DAR Chapter

The Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will hold a Christmas meeting at the home of the regent, Mrs. Harry M. Ellsworth, of 528 Glenwood Rd., Merion, December 6.

Mrs. Henry Frye, a chapter member will read Dickens' "Christmas Carol."

Donations for the Ellis Island Program of the D.A.R., will be given at the meeting. The group at Ellis Island, which is supported and maintained by the National D.A.R., includes a staff of four occupational therapists with two university students in clinical training. The officers and men of the U. S. Coast Guard and the Merchant Marine Corps and men of foreign nations who become ill in our waters are served by the organization.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. B. Ross Buttrick, Mrs. I. Marshall Bradshaw, and Mrs. C. A. Hammer.

Fashion Show Proceeds Will Go To Hospital

Twenty models, ranging in age from six to 16, will present a fashion show December 4, at 8:15 P. M., in the West Manayunk Fire House.

The fashion show, sponsored by the Lorraine Modeling School, of Philadelphia, will turn all proceeds over to the Valley Forge Hospital, Cooke Fund.

and parties. Bob Slanger tells me that he's treasurer of the Flying Club at Trinity College, where he's studying for his Bachelor of Science degree. Bob was disappointed about the Wesleyan-Trinity game, the only loss that the Hilltoppers suffered in a banner football year. Bob's pledged Sigma Nu and pledged training is keeping him quite busy. He tells me that Lawrence Edson has been elected to the staff of "The Goblet," the student magazine at Lehigh.

Talked so long to people that I had to run to the train to get to Franklin Field in time for the Penn-Cornell kickoff. Stu Young, whose football skill won't soon be forgotten by Lower Merion adherents, was standing on the platform, a little bruised from a hard season's play for Dartmouth. Stu says that the Dartmouths are mainly a sophomore team, and that they're going to be celebrating a lot of victories on Hanover Plain in the next couple of years.

The game itself was the usual hard-fought, nerve tingling spectacle that brings eighty thousand people out no matter what the comparative merits of the Penns and the Cornell. Waved to Don Varga who was shouting himself hoarse. Walked out with Jean Aguliger and Shirley Oakes, who had to leave immediately to get back to Vassar. It's a shame they missed the wonderful tea dance the Zeta Psi's throw. The outcome of the game pleased a lot of local people. I lost bets to Elizabeth Petersen and Patsy Saunders, but then, I had my day to chuckle when Penn played Army. There were at least ten people around town who didn't care for the result. Polly Walworth had four of her friends down from Cornell, while five Cornell men stayed next door at Derhams. I'll bet Anne Derham was sorry that she had to stay up at Smith over the holiday. I saw Polly and her party Friday night at the General Wayne, as well as Tiger and Abby Williams, Ed and Pat Warnock, and Jim Dolby and Patty Vollmer.

I hear that Dorothy Biddle had a gay time at the Phi Gamma Delta house at Lehigh on their house party weekend. And it seemed as if every other girl in New Haven Yale-Harvard weekend was from the Main Line. I saw Philippi Smith and Polly Myers, Carol Minster and Anne Derham, Nancy Brainerd, Ruth Erieman and many other old friends. It was a wonderful weekend too, since I trust they cheered for Yale.

The delicious turkey dinner with which I gorged myself Thursday reminds me that Sonia Thomas devoted business school long enough to visit Nan Smith at New Jersey College for Women, in New Brunswick, a few weeks ago, and all weekend they ate nothing but foreign foods, principally Russian, Italian and French. "De gustibus non est disputandum." Harriet Smith got home from Denison earlier than she expected for the holiday. The Big Red team was undefeated and untied this year for the first time in 58 years of football, so they started the vacation a day early in celebration. She was telling Joan Harsch and Alice Richardson what they're missing in the business world, while most of us are idling our way through college. Dorothy Anne James was awfully proud of being an Alpha Chi up at Bucknell when I bumped into her.

Isabel Graham didn't get home from Wilson in time for Thanksgiving because Wilson was uncooperative enough not to give a four-day vacation, but she did arrive in Philadelphia Friday night. By way of contrast, Gwen Stose and Betty Gilbert were boasting that their Christmas vacation from Wellesley runs from December 11 to January 6. Gwen said she saw the Dartmouth-Harvard game, which was certainly one of the most exciting of the season. She was with a Harvard man, but cheered for Dartmouth. Betty is secretary-treasurer of her dorm.

Janet Shand sat in the same section that we did at the Army-Navy game, and I talked to her at the half about Penn life. She and Barb Gunter are Alpha Chi Omegas and Janet is kept particularly busy with student council, Junior League and lots of other things. Helen Justi brought her roommate home with her for the holiday from Edgewood Park Junior College, and the pair of them seemed to be having a gay time when I saw them out in Gladwyne Thursday night. But when Helen started singing a duet with Jane Clark—how many keys can two girls sing in at once? Jane claims to absolutely love Sweet Briar, although she says it's fun to be home. She tells me that Barbara Leith appeared in the play, "Sleeping Beauty," which the Young People's Theatre of Western College for Women, in Oxford, Ohio, have been presenting.

Hated to say "goodbye" to everyone Sunday, but we'll all be home again in three-weeks for more reunions and fun.

4 ways
YOU CAN HELP THEM HELP THEMSELVES

1. Use no meat on Tuesdays. Do not serve any cuts of beef, lamb, veal, pork or ham at home nor ask for them in restaurants. On days you do use meat, buy the cheaper grades.
2. Use no eggs on Thursdays. Do not serve eggs at home and do not order them in restaurants.
3. Save a slice of bread every day. Every slice of bread, every bun, roll or muffin you save means more wheat to fight hunger abroad.
4. Remember when eating out, restaurants will serve bread and butter only on your special request.

WASTE NOTHING—
 Clean your plate at every meal

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Sixty-three boys were in attendance at Bryn Mawr School last Thursday evening participating in the Communities Youth Association. The activities consisted of sports and athletics, followed by movies under the direction of Robert Miller, John Austin, Jr., and James C. Hengst, of the Main Line YMCA.

The four teams from the group have been organized to play in the 12 to 16-year-old basketball league—the Warriors, Panthers, Meat Packers and Garrett Hill Aces.

Last Saturday, 15 members of the Gray-Y Clubs which meet at the Y Saturday, had a swim at the West Branch YMCA. Boys were accompanied by James C. Hengst, boys' worker of the Main Line Y. Another swim will be held on Thursday evening for older boys.

Last Friday evening the Hawks H-Y club defeated the Narberth Presbyterian boys at the Narberth Grammar School, 54 to 28. The Narberth Church YMCA league is being formed with games to be played on Monday evenings at the Narberth Presbyterian and on Friday nights at the Narberth School gymnasium beginning next week. James C. Hengst, of the Main Line Y, was referee.

Members of the Y Chorus attended the production of "HMS Pinafore" at Haverford High School on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Twenty members of the chorus sang at Bala-Cynwyd Methodist Church Sunday evening under the direction of William Z. Shetter, Eleanor Blake, of Philadelphia, had a solo part and Miss Blake and John Bosler, of Wynnewood, sang a duet.

Last Tuesday evening the regular rehearsal was held at the home of Miss Hildegard Mumm 457 Moreno Rd., Wynnewood, after which a social time was held and refreshments served by the hostess.

Last Thursday evening 16 members of the "Twenty-To" Club of the Y enjoyed a roller skating party at "Chez-Vous," in Upper Darby. Lloyd Jennings, president, welcomed the following newcomers: Frank Thilow, Ruth Heller, Harry Sibley, Don Breuninger and Mildred Hammons. Following the skating party the group motored to Howard Johnson's in Brookline for refreshments. The regular monthly business meeting of the club was held Wednesday evening at the Y.

Nineteen of the Main Line Carriers boys had a get-together at the Main Line YMCA on Saturday morning at 10 A. M. After finding out the interests of the boys, various activities and clubs will be organized. Mr. Jennings, circulation manager, is in charge.

The Annual Older Boys' Conference sponsored by the State YMCA for Eastern Pennsylvania will be held in Reading Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Dr. William L. Grand Tucker, of Princeton, will be the main speaker for the general session. William G. Green, of the Boston Army and Navy YMCA, will be the song leader. The conference theme will be "Choose Ye This Day." Discussion groups will be held under the direction of Harvey Boorman, program secretary of the State YMCA.

Some of the discussion topics will be: "Who Is My Neighbor?" "Juvenile Delinquency," boy and girl friendships, universal military training, "The American Way," "How to Use My Leisure Time" and "What About My Job?" The conference will close on Sunday with Dr. Daniel Wetzel giving the closing address.

Main Line representatives will be Brendal Wolfe John Durant, of Lower Merion High School H-Y; Frank Galante, Edward Quill, Luke Stauffer, Ralph Jopling and Alfred Thomas, of Overbrook School for the Blind. Advisors who will attend will be Carl Kredatus, of Overbrook, and Charles Henne, of Lower Merion.

The Y will be hosts to the next meeting of the Metropolitan H-Y—Tri-Hi-Y Council next Monday, with dinner at 6:15 P. M. preceding the meeting. Virginia Baskin, president of Marple-Newtown Tri-Hi-Y club, will preside. Others assisting in planning the meeting from Main Line are Bertha Foley, of Haverford; Dick Curtis, of Lower Merion, and Bill Ling, from the Hawks.

Two representatives from each of the clubs in the Philadelphia area will attend. Paul McCoy Jr., is on the committee to plan an all-city event for all members of the clubs in this area.

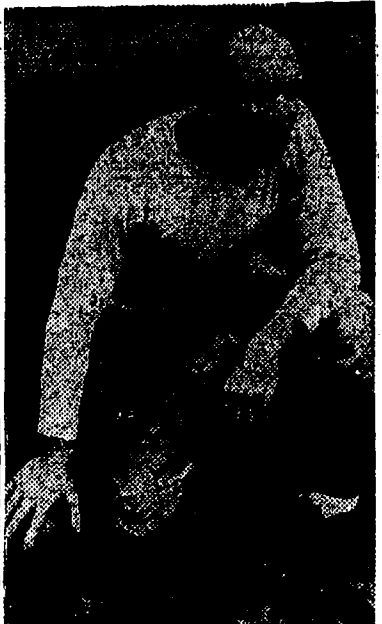

L. Merion High Gridders List 3 Night Games

Enthusiasm for the success of last year's nocturnal inaugural, Lower Merion High footballers will play three night football games—all at Villanova College Stadium—during the 1948 campaign.

Coach Dick Matt's charges will attempt to capture their 14th straight over a three-year span when they play Northeast High, of the Public High Conference, on Friday night, Sept. 17, at Villanova.

Another night game will be played the following Friday, Sept. 24, against Overbrook, according to Vincent V. Pearce, L. M. athletic director. Eastern will be met away on Oct. 2, Mr. Pearce said, followed by the Oct. 8 game with Abington, another Friday fray under Villanova's floodlights.

Haverford High will be met at Brookline on Oct. 16. Other Saturday games: Ridley Township, home, Oct. 23; Upper Darby, home, Nov. 30; Norristown, home, Nov. 6; Chester, away, 13, and Radnor at Villanova, 20.

CLEVELAND-BOUND
JORDAN OLIVER
Villanova's head football coach, who will send the Wildcats against Kentucky in the Great Lakes Bowl game Saturday at Cleveland.
